

Susan Tully

Director

Sue Tully began her career directing on BBC shows, Funland and Silent Witness, before going on to direct on a wide variety of high end dramas including Jez Butterworth's Britannia, Tin Star, Musketeers and last year became the first female to direct on Line of Duty; her 90 minute special for series 5 garnered over 9.7 million viewers. Sue was lead director on The Mill series 2 and The A Word series 2, and helmed the BBC adaptation of the new Galbraith novel in the Cormoran Strike series, Lethal White and Troubled Blood. Other recent work includes Snowed-In's Too Close and Monumental's Maryland for ITV.
